

"JANE DOE" FINDS HOME AND GRANDMOTHER, TOO, THROUGH EVENING WORLD

Cloud Overcasts Joy, However,
When Mother Is Charged
With Abandonment.

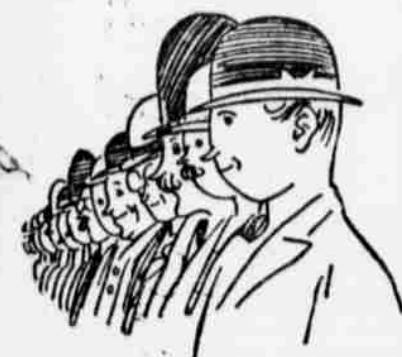

To-day was one of mingled joy and distress for Mrs. Helen MacDougall, No. 14 West 10th Street. Mrs. MacDougall is the grandmother of little "Jane Doe," the pretty three-year-old child found abandoned Jan. 17 and restored to Mrs. MacDougall yesterday by the children's society after Mrs. MacDougall had seen a photograph of the child in The Evening World and recognized it as her granddaughter, Virginia Rhems.

Mrs. MacDougall's joy sprang from the fact that little Virginia was safe home again, but a cloud overcast the pleasure, for she had to see her daughter, Mrs. John Rhems, mother of Virginia, arraigned in the Fifth-street Court, charged with abandonment. Disposition of the case to be made late this afternoon. Search was begun for Mrs. Rhems by the children's society and police yesterday after the identity of the child had become known. Mrs. MacDougall appeared at the society's office, No. 237 10th Avenue, she said Mrs. Rhems was with her, had read of the case and came home. Superintendent Moore said he had been informed Mrs. Rhems had become infatuated with a soldier to such an extent she had left her home. Mrs. Rhems told Supt. Moore she had no recollection of abandoning child, who was found in a hall at No. 674 Tenth Avenue. She said she wandered around for hours, mother said, however, that when Mrs. Rhems returned she told her she had left Virginia with friends in uptown. N. J. Mrs. Rhems had a living with her mother. Her husband, it is said, had abandoned her before Virginia was born. Mrs. MacDougall said: "I am very grateful to The Evening World for putting the picture of Virginia. I have taken the paper for twenty-five years and the first thing I saw in it yesterday was the picture."

WRITING BETRAYED HIM.

Clerk of Cigar Store Had Scribbled Safe's Combination.

When the safe of the United Cigar Store at No. 391 West 11th Street was robbed of $250 in cash and $120 in War Savings Stamps early yesterday morning, Detective O'Toole and Finn of the West 10th Street Station discovered a slip of paper on which was scribbled the safe's combination. In looking over the applications for employment at the main office it was found that the handwriting on the application of Philip Elliot, eighteen, of No. 400 West 11th Street, bore a decided resemblance to the slip. He was arrested, confessed, returned $160 of the stolen cash and is held for burglary.

The "Composite" Derby is a new kind of standardized hat.

It is the result of averaging all the information we could gather through three consecutive seasons.

We call it "Composite" because it's built up like a composite picture—an averaging of all that's becoming to the majority of men.

It's the most successful hat we've ever had. Since introducing it last Fall, it's leaped right to the top—fits, pleases and looks well on 80 out of every 100 men.

All sizes, 6 1/2 to 7 1/2. Light weight; flexible; self-conforming.
